Robert Aitken—
Artistic Director

New Music Concerts, now in its fourth season, will again present a showcase of contemporary music, featuring some of the world's most original and exciting composers and performers.

Co-founder of this unique series with the eminent Canadian composer Norma Beecroft, is world-renowned flutist Robert Aitken. Recipient of the Canada Music Citation given to a performer for outstanding dedication to Canadian music, Mr. Aitken, who is also a noted composer, conductor and teacher, brings to this series the experience and excellence of one of today's "new generation musicians". His most recent work "Lalità" will receive its Toronto premiere on the final concert.

Other distinguished Canadian artists appearing this season will include soprano Mary Morrison, pianist John Hawkins, percussionists Robin Engelman and John Wyre, harpist Erica Goodman and members of the Canadian Brass and the Toronto Winds.
