CAPAC: HELPING CANADIAN COMPOSERS CREATE NEW CANADIAN MUSIC.

The Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada — CAPAC for short — is a cooperative organization that exists to collect performing right royalties, and distribute them to their members.

It's a varied and surprising group of composers for whom we work — it includes Glenn Gould and Gordon Lightfoot, John Weinzweig and Dan Hill, Norma Beecroft and Galt MacDermot, the writers for half a hundred rock bands and many of the composers whose work is being showcased in this series of New Music concerts.

CAPAC does its work quietly and efficiently, helping put some financial muscle behind Canadian music. The organization is involved in a variety of projects to help publicize Canadian composers, at home and abroad.

If you want to know more about CAPAC — and you should, if you really care how Canadian music is going to grow in the future — please call us. CAPAC exists to help Canadian composers create Canadian music.

Tonight's Guest Performers

K & K EXPERIMENTALSTUDIO was founded in 1975 in Vienna. It has toured throughout Europe, Britain and Scandinavia, presenting a music theatre developed out of electro-acoustic and graphic music, especially of Austrian composers such as Haubenstock Ramati, Logothetis, Kaufmann, Liberda and Zobl. K & K has also presented animation workshops in schools and creative centres.

PUPODROM was founded in 1972 in Vienna by Erwin Piplits. Between 1973 and 1977 it toured Austria and other European countries such as Denmark, Iceland, France and Germany, giving about a hundred performances a year. PupoDrom also gives workshops in puppet theatre and recently founded the Austrian Centre for Studies of Puppet Theatre in Rust. During the fall of 1978 PupoDrom toured the USSR.

Erwin Piplits, Gunda König and Dieter Kaufmann had already collaborated before the foundation of these groups when they created the first version of Pupofon in 1971 with performances in Vienna, at the Paris Biennale in 1971 and in Warsaw in 1972. The revised version of Pupofon resumes the original conception but is combined with additional material and experiences.

Tonight's performance marks the North American debut of both groups.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

DIETER KAUFMANN, born in 1941 in Vienna, studied German literature and music (pedagogics, cello and composition) in Vienna (with Karl Schiske and Gottfried von Einem), then went to Paris where he studied composition with Messiaen and Leibowitz and electronic music at the Groupe de Recherches Musicales with Pierre Schaeffer. Since 1970 he has been teaching electronic music at the Vienna Academy of Music, founding many activities for experimental music in Austria and composing instrumental, vocal, electronic and music-theatre works.

GUNDA KÖNIG, born in 1945 in Langenlois, began her career as a teacher, but since 1967 has been involved as an actress in classical and experimental theatre as well as for radio and television.

ERWIN PIPLITS, born in 1939 in Vienna, first studied textile printing and then shifted to theatre. At the Academy of Applied Arts in Vienna, he designed and constructed sets, puppets and masks, and studied acting and dancing. He then went to Denmark where he produced his own puppet theatre for television and at the Tivoli Gardens, organized a puppet exhibition and wrote a book about the technique of marionettes. Since 1970 he has lived in Vienna where he has been active as a producer and player in puppet-theatre.

ULRIKE KAUFMANN, born in 1953 in Styria, Austria, studied graphic arts and scenery construction. She joined PupoDrom in 1973 as a puppet designer, puppet player and actress and also helps with the construction of the sets.

REMI BRANDNER, born in 1954 in Vienna, joined PupoDrom in 1977.

Program Notes

PUPOFON: MAN AND ARTIFACT

Notes by Dieter Kaufmann

Music of a brass band, foot-steps, the beautiful Blue Danube waltz, sighing, barking of dogs, an accompaniment of waltzes, the Internationale, a shot, a train passing by, a car accident, the wedding march that wouldn't start, the music of the street, 'Be embraced, ye millions' announced by a thousand-and-one fanfares through the ether. People, hear the call!

What does it mean, this music which we know so well, the sound of which accompanies us throughout life? To establish signals which provide us with orientation, similar to the scent markers of dogs, which seem to say: 'Someone who stinks well has already been here! - feel quite at home!'

'L'amour, die Tür, the chair, der Bauch' -- a song? --the song of every day: 'aml'our, tie Dür, che thair, ber Dauch'--permutation of objects which we live for and by which we live, between the ringing of the phone and the Pastoral Symphony, between the dreary music of political speeches and the dreary music of musical masterpieces. What have they done to my song, Ma?

Thus music means .
inceptions which arouse expectations,
expectations of the well-known, the foreseen, and consequently of the familiar, the already-heard - so let's stick to the inceptions, let's stop where expectation turns into habit and curiosity into confirmation.

Music also means closing, final chords, 'chutes', moments between the conductor's cut-off and the beginning of roaring applause.

Music that in the best of worlds is everything that we would have expected - what a pity, already finished?

But music - that's also silence,
the pauses between the noises which are produced by our life, - the passages of our existence which have not been administered yet, what we still have kept of emotion between the astonished 'Oh!', the understanding 'Aha!'
and the resigned 'well!'

Question for tomorrow:

How will we be able to hear more and more music without being forced to listen to it for a longer period of time?

Solution:

Compact music - simultaneous hearing of a B's complete work
by shifting of time.
(what have they done to my song, Ma-ma-mia!!!)

Question for tomorrow:

Musical garbage utilization?

Solution:

Throw-away music (one-way music). (What have they...?)

Question for tomorrow:

"Where do I take the flowers when it is winter...?"
(Hölderlin)

Pupofon attempts to pose questions by facing man and artifact on the one side and the acoustic signal and its humanitarian meaning on the other:

- questions about the free sphere of our imagination within the concentration camp of all-reaching administration;
- questions about the social value of art and games for an individual who is totally seized by commerce;
- questions about the questions which are still to be asked.

And it offers answers:

loud is good beautiful is good music is good the human being is good everything is good

Courses on Computers

An Introduction to Computer Music

Saturday, February 17

One of the more interesting applications of computers in the humanities is the composition and performance of music.

Aspects such as types of equipment, compositional technique, and methods of sound synthesis will be discussed, as will relevant esthetic questions.

Why Composers Choose P.R.O. Canada

We're the youngest—but the largest. Why? There's more than one reason why nearly 10,000 writers, composers and publishers have chosen to affiliate with the Performing Rights Organization of Canada Limited since it began working for music creators back in the 1940s.

- P.R.O. Canada's doors are open to young composers. We provide a very personal service from three offices.
- P.R.O. Canada sponsors the Young Composers' Competition with up to $5,000 available annually.
- The Music Scene and La Scène Musicale are published six times a year and distributed to an international mailing list of more than 12,000, their purpose to publicize the activities of affiliated composers.
- To date 30 composer brochures have been published. These include biographical material and lists of works by affiliated composers.
- Publicity files including clippings and photos of affiliated composers are available without charge to journalists and researchers.

If you compose music do call P.R.O. Canada and make sure you're a part of the above!
